Mrs. Mary Dombrowskie writes from Glasgow that she had a pleasant trip across the ocean and is enjoying her visit in Scotland greatly. She made the trip across in the Hesperian of the Allen line.

We wish to state to the many customers who trade at our fish department that we have made arrangements with Adam Craig to handle his own curing and smoking of finnan haddies, beginning Saturday, Nov. 5, for the benefit of those who prefer his make. Smith & Cummings.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Keith of Websterville were recipients of a large postal card shower a few days ago to remind them of their eightieth and seventy-sixth birthdays respectively. Through The Times, the couple wish to thank their friends who so thoughtfully remembered them on the occasion.

Small boys celebrating Halloween night were responsible for the shattering of a large window in G. W. Mann's residence on Wellington street Tuesday evening. Similar occurrences are reported in other parts of the city, but the observance on the whole was probably tame in comparison with other years.

Keep in mind the grand fair by Clan Gordon and its ladies' auxiliary. The best and greatest fair of the season. It opens Monday, Nov. 6, and will keep open every evening during the week until midnight. Riley's orchestra will furnish music for the dancing. Nothing further need be said about the music. You all know it's the best. Watch The Times for further notices as to programs, door and other prizes. There are many good ones.

The Concord, N. H., Patriot of yesterday had the following: A. F. Howland of Barre, Vt., the expert who is in charge of the placing of the statutory over the entrance to the new historical building, is a grand-nephew of Hetty Green, the richest woman in the world. Asked concerning his distinguished relatives, Mr. Howland said, in the quiet and cool manner he has that makes him so successful in handling big jobs: "Yes, Mrs. Green is a relative of mine, a grand aunt. Although I don't know her personally, and never saw her, our family history states that she is a descendant of John Howland as we are."

The program for Thursday evening, Nov. 2, at the Universalist church fair is: Piano solo, Hester Gove; reading, Dr. Lynde; violin solo, Clayton Spencer; reading, Hazel Lyon; vocal solo, Dr. Jarvis. Admission to the fair, 10c.

A new program of vaudeville comes to the Pavilion to-day, the feature act being Arthur Browning, the well-known tramp comedian, assisted by his mind-reading dog. At one of the vaudeville theatres in Boston, at which Mr. Browning was recently playing, he and his dog were the hit of the show. He is considered one of the cleverest dancers on the vaudeville stage and is also an exceptionally funny tramp comedian. The musical Stewart, an eccentric comedy musical act, complete the vaudeville program. Both acts come highly recommended and will no doubt make a very pleasing vaudeville program. All of the pictures are good and there are three reels of them. "The Battle of Bunker Hill" is an extra added attraction and is fine. The battle scenes are handled in a masterly fashion that keeps the audience interested throughout.

Farewell to Summer.

Summer, if now at length your time is through, And, as occurs with lovers, we must part, My poor return for all the debt, your due, 'Tis just to say that you may keep my heart; Still warm with heat-waves rolling up the sky, Its melting tablets mark in mid-September Their record of the best three months that I Ever remember.

I had almost forgotten how it felt Not to wake at dawn to sweetening mirth, And hourly modify my ambient belt To cope with my emancipated girth; It seems that always I have had to stay My forehead's moisture with the frequent mopper And found my cheek assume from day to day A richer copper.

Strange spells you wrought with your transforming glow! O London drabness bathed in lucens heat! O Mansions of the late Queen Anne, and O Buckingham palace (also Wimpole street); O laughing skies traditionally sad! O barometric forecasts never "rainy"! O balmy days, and noctes, let me add, Ambrosian!

And if your weather brought the strikers out And turned to desert-brown the verdant plot; If civic fathers, who are often stout, Murnured at times, "This is a bit too hot!" If the slow blood of rural swains has stirred When stating what their views about the crops is Or jammy lips have flung some bitter word

At this year's wopces—

What then? You may have missed the happy mean, But by excess of virtue's ample store, Proving your lavish heart was over-keen, And for that fault I love you yet the more; Nay, had you been more temperate in your zeal I should have lacked the best of all your giving—

The thirst, the lovely thirst, that made me feel Life worth the living.

—Punch.

HOUSE FOR SALE

We have had placed with us for immediate sale, a cottage house on Nelson Street in Barre. It is in good shape, having been built about eight years, and was built right from cellar to attic. Has eight nice rooms besides closets and bath, all finished in the wood. Hard wood floors, large piazza, large lot, several fruit and shade trees. One could not wish to own a better home at the price it can be bought for. Reason for selling, owner has business out of the city. If you are looking for a place that is all right and for much less money than it would cost to build to-day, don't fail to look this up. Apply at the Barre Real Estate Agency, Gordon Block, or on the premises, at 17 Nelson Street.

When Manager Hoban of the Barre opera house saw the actors in "The Cat and the Fiddle" company yesterday afternoon, he thought he might have to enlarge the dressing rooms for Orrie Gothard, who played the part of a "red demon" in the play. Orrie is seven feet tall if he's a foot, and he towered above the ordinary-sized men of the company, making them look like pygmies. But when it was found that the giant, by taking off his hat could walk through the doors with a half-inch to spare, Manager Hoban looked relieved.

Mrs. George T. Brigham of Cherry street suffered an attack of heart trouble in her team while driving along down Washington street this forenoon. Jesse Cayhuc saw the woman away forward in the wagon and he stopped the horse nearly opposite Dr. C. F. Camp's residence, and caught the woman just in time to save her from falling from the wagon. She was taken into Dr. Camp's office and under treatment of the doctor soon revived and was able to drive home.
